

Artwork for CD of Macbeth, The Rock Musical, a musical written by high school students and their director. All tracks are sung by the students. This CD was sold at school functions to raise funds for the drama department and the school as a whole. I donated my time and purchase of stock images to the project.

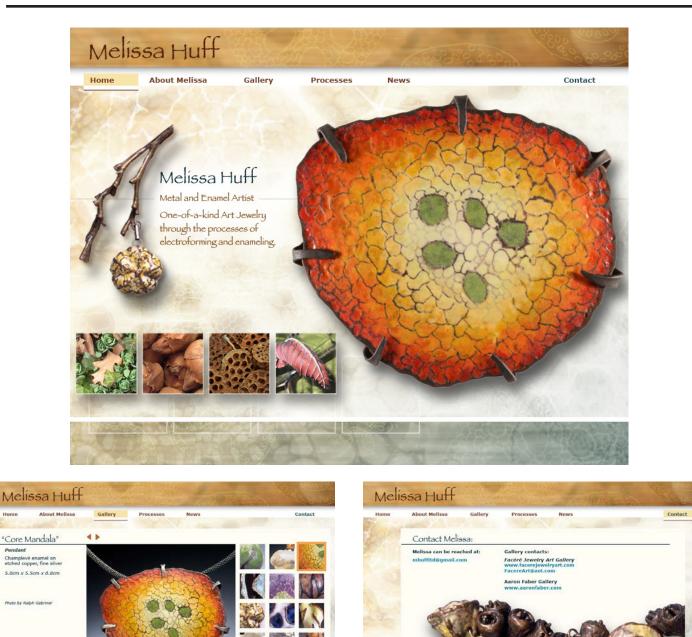

Pull-Tab Thank You Card for Head Costume Mistress of Broadway Show of MacBeth with Patrick Stewart. Part of her daily duties included cleaning the stage blood from the costumes after each performance.

Pull-Tab Thank You Card for friends enabling a girls' night out.

Website for Melissa Huff, artisan of electroformed, enameled jewelry. Primary considerations: to show examples of her artwork, and provide easy access to important biography information. Many images were separated from their original photographed backgrounds, and placed over white to further bring attention to the detail of the piece. Backgrounds use elements and colors from the artist's sketchbook.

2012 Calendar and logo design for The Ladysmiths, a group of metalsmithing women in the Washington D.C. area. Twelve artists contributed high resolution images for submission, they were divided into color groups for each month. Calendar grids were custom made in Illustrator.
